Application For Patent On Section Land To Be Completed Soon

According to Lucien H. Raymond, local land abstractor and surveyor, application for a patent to Section 25 land should be completed within the next few weeks.

Mr. Raymond said this week in order to expedite settlement of the matter, the Bureau of Land Management in Washington, D. C., has taken the matter out of the hands of the regional office and is handling it directly out of the Washington office.

Raymond, retained by land owners in Section 25, Township 8, Range 14 West, land that was recently found had never been released by the federal government by patent or otherwise, added, "that the Bureau had been of great assistance in furnishing the necessary data to help with this work."

At the present time more than 65% of the landowners have signed the application for the patent and as soon as the signatures of the few remaining owners in the Bay area have been obtained, Raymond continued he will secure the signatures of the five or six landowners in New Orleans.

The land involved is located west of Bay St. Louis on U. S. Highway 90 and contains approximately 200 acres divided into approximately 65 individual parcels, Raymond concluded.

Hard to write about fishing when the water is bad, fish not biting and not many going out. The reports we had were not at all encouraging.

Jim McClinton, Alex Neely, Jim Henry and Joe Glover were over Saturday and made a fishing trip in Joe's boat, but to no avail.

W. Van Jones was mingling with friends at the Knock Knock over the weekend. He reported that there were no fish.

Joe Glover, Larry Larroux and Yours Truly went fishing Sunday and returned with one green trout. Bad water was the only excuse!

Denny Russell, Dan, Mike and Pat Haggerty, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Dan B. Haggerty of New Orleans were over for the week end, passing some Scout merit badges. The boys wanted to go fishing but couldn't find the time. Better luck next time.

John Genin and John Scaffide are getting to be real golf enthusiasts. They were out Sunday and are getting to be real golfers for their ages.

Another fisherman has arrived overseas, Gary Duff, grandson of Dec Elliott, hopes he takes behind his grandpa!

Perre Quintini was another fisherman reporting no luck this weekend.

Jim Kelly of Kelly's fishing camp really gives his customers right dope on fishing around his camp. Give him a ring and he will tell you how the water is.

Jordan River as well as other fishing streams turned bad from the rains of last week. Don't take long for them to clear up, however.

Fishing should get better with warm weather coming, won't be long before you'll need that old floundering lamp. Better clean it up. Soft crabs and flounders will be showing up soon. Soft crabbing usually starts the end of February or early March.

1960 February Heart Fund In This Area To Be Headed By Ed. A. Khayat

The 1960 February Heart Fund Campaign in this five-county area will be headed by Edward A. Khayat of Moss Point, newly named Mississippi Heart Association District 9 Heart Fund chairman.

Appointed by Charles Fair of Louisville, the 1960 Heart Fund Chairman, Khayat will supervise campaign activities in Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Pearl River and Stone Counties. Generous citizens in these counties contributed $13,551.03 to the heart disease fight in 1959, topping the district goal by nearly $1,000 even before Keesler Field's $2,673.40 contribution brought the total district Heart Fund to $16,524.43.

The newly appointed district chairman explains that heart dollars are spent to help find the causes and cures of the heart and blood vessel diseases which accounted for 49 percent of all state deaths last year.

Heart dollars also bring new knowledge to physicians, help alert the public to the heart disease problem and stimulate community action on behalf of the heart disease victim, Khayat states.

Like many heart volunteers, Khayat reveals that he knows the sorrow and suffering inflicted by heart disease by firsthand experience within his own family circle and by watching this killer cut down his friends.

The Moss Point banker and public official is aiding his volunteer responsibilities to a schedule which already demonstrates his keen interest in community well being.

He is completing a six-year term as vice-president of the Pine Burr area, Boy Scouts of America, is a director of the State 4-H Advisory Council and chairman of the Board of the Rivers and Harbors Association of Mississippi after having been president in 1958-1959.

Khayat is a past-president of his Rotary Club and of the Moss Point YMBC. He has served as treasurer and director of the Mississippi Economic Council and secretary-treasurer of the Mississippi Association of Supervisors. He is a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, an Elk and a Mason.

1959 OIL DISCOVERIES POINT TO DRILLING BOOM IN 1960

The State of Mississippi produced during the year 1959 approximately 50,000,000 barrels of oil, which will exceed the previous high of 48,665,000 barrels produced in 1948. A total of 614 wells have been drilled this year; 247 have been completed as oil wells, 30 as gas wells, and 337 as dry holes. Sixteen new discoveries have been found in the state to date, of which fourteen were completed as oil discoveries and two as gas discoveries. The discoveries of the current year have resulted in the finding of sizable reserves. The future for the oil and gas industry in Miss. appears unbounded, based on the recent discovery of excellent reserves.

Private Institutions To Care For Aged People

Private institutions to care for old people are beginning to dot the state, and the State Board of Health is making real progress in bringing them up to reasonable standards of safety and performance, says Dr. A. L. Gray, State Health Officer.

Today there are 91 private nursing and convalescent homes for the aged and the infirm, located in 42 counties. All licensed by the State Board of Health, these homes have a total bed capacity of 2,784.

Up until a few years ago Mississippi had no regulatory laws covering the operation of private institutions for the aged. But as the state's older population began to increase and homes for their care multiply, an urgent need developed for legal safeguards.

The result was House Bill 382, which became effective July 1, 1953. It called for the State Board of Health to establish and enforce "certain standards in the maintenance and operation of institutions for the aged or infirm which will insure safe, sanitary and reasonably adequate care of individuals in such institutions."

All private places providing food, shelter and personal care for four more persons, unrelated to the operator, are subject to the regulations, and must be licensed annually.

"Since the passage of the law, there has been a continuous increasing demand upon the State Board of Health by private individuals throughout the state for assistance in establishing homes that will meet the standards," says Dr. A. L. Gray, State Health Officer.

Once a home is approved and licensed, the State Board of Health works closely with the licensee by making periodic visits relative to patient care, nursing, sanitation, food and other compliance as stipulated in the regulations. In the last 5 months, such inspections totaled 97, reports Dr. Gray.

Since last January, 13 new homes with a bed capacity of 494 have been approved and licensed. At the present 12 applications for licenses are being processed.

Rather than comply with the minimum standards four homes voluntarily closed during the year, according to Dr. Gray.

When homes are remodeled or ownership transferred, complete evaluations and licensing are again mandatory. In the past six months, eight homes were remodeled and six were sold, all calling for services by the health department.

Working on a full-time basis in private nursing homes are more than 800 employees. Each is required to have a health certificate, which must be renewed at least annually by the local health department, to show freedom from communicable diseases.

Every patient occupying a bed in a licensed institution for the aged and infirm is required to be under the immediate care of its private physician, Dr. Gray points out.

The rates of the homes vary considerably depending upon the service desired and required. The state-wide average per patient is $125.00 per month.

"The responsibilities placed on the Board of Health as the licensing agency of nursing homes are great, and the load increases constantly," states Dr. Gray.

He points out that in the last two years the number of homes doubled and the beds almost quadrupled.

"The point has been reached where personal reinforcements are necessary if we are to enforce minimum standards of safety in nursing homes," warns the health officer.

Thus far public health personnel have stretched themselves to take on this added duty, according to Dr. Gray.

MEMBER AWARDS—Members of the Mississippi Press Association and the Mississippi Broadcast Association were thanked collectively by the presentation of March of Dimes Certificates of Appreciation. Dr. A. L. Gray, state health officer, made the presentation in conjunction with Joseph F. Nee of the National Foundation headquarters staff. More Tree Farms Is Goal Of New Busy Acre Program

Jackson (Special)—"Mississippi's new Busy Acres program to aid forest landowners should help more timber growers to meet the qualifications of the tree farm program," stated James W. Craig, Chairman of the Mississippi tree farm program committee, following the recent launching of the Busy Acres program.

"Busy Acres in Mississippi" is a new idea sponsored by the Mississippi Forestry Industries Committee with the cooperation of the Mississippi Forestry Association, the Agricultural Extension Service, the Mississippi Forestry Commission, the Soil Conservation Service and the U. S. Forest Service.

A how-to-do-it manual of basic forestry information has been prepared by the cooperating agencies and groups as an aid to landowners so that they can apply the forest management principles to their own forest tracts to grow crops of trees. The manual covers the major phases of forestry, planting, protection from fire and other hazards, management of mature stands and marketing.

Copies are available from the Forest Industries Committee, P. O. Box 159, Philadelphia, Miss. Craig, president of Forestry Suppliers, Inc., of Jackson and former State Forester of Mississippi said, "The success by Busy Acres will be measured by the increase in the number of landowners whose timber can meet the standards of the tree farm program. A certified tree farm is a privately owned forest being managed for continuous crops of forest products which is protected from fire and other damaging factors."

Mississippi today leads the other 46 tree farm states by having over 2,260 private forest lands displaying the green and white tree farm sign.

Owners of the newest tree farms in Hancock County are: H. F. Bopp, Brewton, Alabama.

STATE PHYSICIAN SHORTAGE HAS EASED

Mississippi has achieved almost phenomenal progress in the field of medical and hospital care during the past decade, overcoming our once serious deficit in the number of practicing physicians while acquiring new patient facilities at a substantial rate. Today, 90 percent of all Mississippians are not more than 15 minutes from a doctor or more than 30 minutes from a well-equipped hospital. Every phase of scientific medicine is now represented in our Mississippi medical profession, and our hospitals offer all kinds of surgery, including heart, lung, and brain.

What Is Heaven Like?

By Frank Sheed, Author and Publisher

EVERY ROAD must have an end, a destination, and the same is true of the road of life. The atheist tries to place the end of road at death. But atheists are always exceptional in the world. For most men the question of what is the end of life, simply means what comes after death.

But what is on the other side of the door of death? Some say they don't care; but no one can really mean that—eternity is a long time.

To know what comes after death would be an impossible mystery. However, if God had not told us, for surely He has, He has told us. Sheed.

WHAT IS HEAVEN like? Some tell us that it is simply a place of harps, hymns, crowns of gold and streets of Jasper. But these are only symbols without much meaning for us. For the average man, a place of endless hymn-singing is anything but pleasant.

Heaven is the place of perfect happiness, flowing from the knowledge and love of God. We know from experience that happiness is always in the soul. The state of the body may cause happiness but happiness itself is always in the soul.

A MAN may have all he wants to eat and drink, be in perfect health, but he deeply unhappy about the death of a friend or something else he knows and feels inside apart from his senses. So in heaven too our happiness will come through the soul, through its vision of God.

Some people might think it too spiritual to say that perfect happiness consists in direct knowledge and love of God. But think of the happiness you feel at the sight of a beautiful sunset, at the sound of beautiful music, or at the sight of the one you love deeply.

THESE FLASHES of great happiness last for only a minute. But the God who created the one you love, and the beauty of the sunset is the source and author of all beauty. The sight of Him will bring us joy that far exceeds any of these other passing things. And the difference is that you will never get tired or weary of Him who is infinite Beauty.

The biggest thing to remember about heaven is that we cannot picture it. As St. Paul tells us, the happiness of heaven is indescribable and unimaginable. But it is perfect and can be ours—forever with God.

REMEMBER that death ushers us into the next life. It does not choose our place; that is decided by the state of our soul in relation to God. Through His Divine Son, Jesus Christ, God has given us the map for the road of life. With His help we can follow it and reach the goal He has prepared for us.

Gasoline Tax Now Tops First Year's Revenue Within 2 1/2 Days

Sunday, January 3, marked the day on which total gasoline tax collections in Mississippi, just since the beginning of the new year reached the sum of 493,000. Mississippi motorists have paid as much gasoline tax within 2 1/2 days as they originally paid in a whole year.

This was pointed out by H. J. Nicholas, Chairman of the Mississippi-Petroleum Committee, in commenting on present estimates that Mississippi car owners will pay $77.3 million this year in direct taxes on gasoline, including the 7-cent state tax plus state sales tax of about 1c and the increased 4-cent federal tax.

"With combined taxes on gasoline in this state now adding more than 80 per cent to the price of the product, this extreme tax burden is causing concern," he stated.

Nicholas noted that the 1960 estimate indicates that tax revenues are now "rolling in" at this state at the rate of $1 million every five days. This means as much tax within 2 1/2 days as the $493,000 collected in a whole year following enactment of Mississippi's original 1-cent gasoline tax in 1922.

"This year's tax estimate, based on the assumption that the gasoline sales will continue in the past, despite signs of growing public resistance to this tax noted particularly in the present trend toward small economy cars," Nicholas said.

It is, in surprise to most motorists that today's regular gasoline price, excluding taxes, is substantially below the 23.8-cent average price of gasoline of 1959.

Because of many years of hard work on the part of public spirited citizens, Mississippi has been able to attract many new industries to the state. The money which these new industries put to work building factories, creating more jobs, improving the economy of the state was spent with the expectation that they would be able to create a climate which will make it possible for investment capital to earn a reasonable profit... including the more than 53 million dollars your phone company has spent during the past 3 1/2 years to improve and expand telephone service to keep step with a growing Mississippi.

To continue attracting new industries into the state, both the new and the old must be allowed to earn a reasonable profit.

No More Orders For Slash Pine Seedlings To Be Accepted

The Mississippi Forestry Commission announced this week that no more orders for slash pine seedlings will be accepted, however loblolly pine seedlings are still available and orders will continue to be accepted until the supply is exhausted as in the case of slash pine.

The Commission said that seedlings are now being lifted and delivered at a rapid pace. As soon as orders are received and processed they are sent to the state nurseries at Winona, Mount Olive and Waynesboro. The seedlings are then delivered to the landowners within a few days.

The Commission says that a special effort is being made to cull diseased and otherwise un-plant seedlings to assure landowners of top quality seedlings. Many report this year's seedlings quality as the best they have ever received.
